SEA POLLUTION (PREVENTION OF OIL POLLUTION)
REGULATIONS 2007.

The Minister for Transport, Mr. Noel Dempsey, T.D., has made the above Statutory Instrument.

These Regulations give effect to Annex I of the International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships, adopted by the International Maritime Organization on 2 November, 1973, and as amended by its Protocol adopted by the International Maritime Organization on 17 February, 1978, and as further amended under resolutions adopted by the Marine Environment Protection Committee (MEPC) of the International Maritime Organization.

The Regulations apply to all Irish ships wherever they may be and to all other ships when they are in the territorial waters of the State.

The Regulations prohibit and control discharge into the sea of oil and oily mixtures. The Regulations require ships to follow specified procedures when washing cargo tanks. Ballasting arrangements and the discharge of ballast water are also controlled. The Regulations also provide for adequate facilities at ports and terminals for the reception of oil and oily mixtures.

Ships are required to be surveyed for the purposes of the Regulations and to carry an International Pollution Prevention Certificate. Ships are also required to carry an Operations and Equipment Manual, an Oil Record Book and a shipboard oil pollution emergency plan approved by the Minister or recognised organisation.

Section 29 of the Sea Pollutions Act, 1991 provides for penalties for breaches of these Regulations.
